Roxle lets your guests order and pay at the table

Customers can order and pay from their phone at the table whenever they want and as frequently as they want and servers receive orders more efficiently on an iPad provided by us. This means improved customer experience and more time for servers to provide the services that matter most. Roxle users have higher average checks, faster table turn-overs and increased amount of tips.

Roxle is truly plug and play

Integrating Roxle with your business is easy and hassle-free. Roxle works with your current hardware and order of service and requires no staff training. We setup and configure your menu in our system and support the initial hardware installation. There are no initial or monthly fees and we handle all charge-backs and disputes and we offer low processing rates.

Roxle is extremely secure and reliable

Roxle takes security very seriously. We have included extra safety measures in our system to ensure your business and customer privacy and security is protected. Roxle is PCI compliant and uses encrypted tokenization method for payment processing. Our customer service is always available to support you through any issues you might encounter or to simply answer your questions.

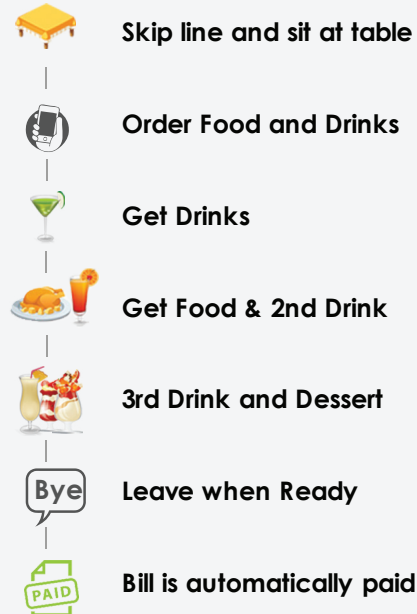

The purpose of our product is not to eliminate the interaction with customers but to complement what servers cannot offer and to increase service efficiency and provide a better customer experience. Our vision and passion are people and how we can make both the customer and merchant connect in a frictionless manner. We are committed to providing a pleasant, efficient and user friendly tool that can effectively manage time and deliver measurable results.
